The DataScan II supports only the first four parts of the 17th letter in the Consult II protocol. The DDL2 (consult II) code is mentioned in the 17th (17th line) of OBDII code. Consult II code on the DataScan II consists of the first 4 parts (4 letters) of 17th line of OBDII code. The number of each letter are 16, 11, 10, 12 and 9. This project allows you to obtain the Consult II code from 16-pin connector by the working of an LCD and a potentiometer. The device will change the first four parts of the 17th line of the OBDII code into the numbers from LCD display. 1. DataScan II Functionality • The DataScan II allows to determine the Consult II code from a 16-pin OBDII connector on a newer Nissan car. • Consult II is a small gray box (approximately 9"x7") that contains an OBD II connector for the transmission. • The consult II connecter is locked using a special key located inside the gray box. • The gray box is inserted into the OBD II connector. • The gray box is locked to prevent anyone else from connecting the Consult II to the OBD II connector. • The Consult II is equipped with a green LED and a light sensor. • The consult II is equipped with a microprocessor that is protected by an encrypted password. • The password can be entered on a keypad located inside the consult II box. • The encrypted password can be restored using an SD card. • It is possible to change the password via the keypad if needed. • The DataScan II will be either installed with or without the encrypted password (it will be stored in the SD card). • To use the DataScan II the user will connect the device via USB cable to the computer. • The device displays all Consult II codes on the LCD. • The DataScan II converts the Consult II codes into numbers (from LCD display). • Consult II code could be obtained using the USB port of the computer. • Consult II code is identified by its identification number (ID). The Consult II ID's are: "A", "B", "C", "D", "E", "F", "G", "H", "I" and "J". • 82157476af
